DETAILED ACTION

Claims 1-19 are under consideration in this application.

Election/Restrictions

Applicant's election with traverse of Group I in the reply filed on March 26, 2008 is acknowledged. The restriction requirement is hereby withdrawn in view of applicants' arguments in the instant response. Hence, claims 1-19 represent one patentable invention.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 1-10 and 13-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, because the specification, while being enabling for preparing the specific compounds pioglitazone, rosiglitazone or troglitazone, does not reasonably provide enablement for preparing any and all unknown thiazolidinedione bases. The specification does not enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make the invention commensurate in scope with these claims.

The specification fails to prepare any unknown thiazolidinedione base or identify the unknown bases obtained.

The specification lacks direction or guidance for placing all of the alleged products in the possession of the public without inviting more than routine experimentation. Applicants are referred to In re Fouché, 169 USPQ 429 CCPA 1971, MPEP 716.02(b).

There are many factors to be considered when determining whether there is sufficient evidence to support a determination that a disclosure does not satisfy the enablement requirement and whether any necessary experimentation is undue. These factors include 1) the breadth of the claims, 2) the nature of the invention, 3) the state of the prior art, 4) the level of one of ordinary skill, 5) the level of predictability in the art, 6) the amount of direction provided by the inventor, 7) the existence of working examples, and 8) the quantity of experimentation needed to make or use the invention based on the content of the disclosure. In re Wands, 858 F.2d 731, 737, 8 USPQ2d 1400, 1404 (Fed. Cir. 1988).

The nature of the invention

The nature of the invention is the preparation of a thiazolidinedione compound by reduction.

The amount of direction or guidance and the presence or absence of working examples

The working examples in the specification fail to show how all thiazolidinediones are produced. The working examples only support the preparation of the compounds recited in claims 16-18.

The breadth of the claims

The breadth of the claims is drawn to the preparation of any and all thiazolidinedione compounds.

The quantity of experimentation needed

The quantity of experimentation needed would be undue when faced with the lack of direction and guidance present in the instant specification in regards to the process of preparing all unknown thiazolidinedione compounds.

In terms of the 8 Wands factors, undue experimentation would be required to make or use the invention based on the content of the disclosure due to the breadth of the claims, the level of unpredictability in the art of the invention, and the poor amount of direction provided by applicants. Taking the above factors into consideration, it is not seen where the instant claim is enabled by the instant application.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1, 13-15 and 19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The expressions “thiazolidinedione precursor”, thiazolidinedione antihyperglycemic compound” and “thiazolidinedione moiety” in claims 1, 13-15 and 19 are indefinite to their meaning because it is unclear what thiazolidinedione is intended by applicants.

The claims measure the invention. United Carbon Co. V. Binney & Smith Co., 55 USPQ 381 at 384, col. 1, end of 1st paragraph, Supreme Court of the United States (1942).

The C.C.P.A. in 1978 held “that invention is the subject matter defined by the claims submitted by the applicant. We have consistently held that no applicant should have limitations of the specification read into a claim where no express statement of the limitation is included in the claim”: In re Priest, 199 USPQ 11, at 15.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 17 and 18 are allowed because the prior art does not teach or disclose the process in a non-ether solvent.

Claims 11, 12 and 16 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

Claims 1-10, 13-15 and 19 are not allowed.
